This has been a big year in sports for Hawaii. Never before have the islands figured so prominently in national and even international events, but during 1912 it was hard to find a newspaper that did not have some mention of Hawaii or one of its champions in the sporting columns.

Duke Kahanamoku started the ball rolling by making a trip to the mainland in the early spring, invading the east under unfavorable weather conditions and without much experience in competition, and winning the national championship for the 100 yards. This was an eye opener for the A. A. U. officials, who had looked with great distrust on the world's record marks made here by Duke in 1911 for the 100 and 50 yard events. Duke made a place on the American Olympic team, and won the 100 metres at Stockholm, afterwards making a new world's record for that distance of 1m 1-64, at Hamburg, Germany. He swam in a number of events in the east, returning to Honolulu Oct. 1 after giving Hawaii much desirable publicity.

Next to Duke, the Hawaiian products to receive most attention in the states were the famous All-Chinese baseball team. This organization toured from coast to coast for more than six months, playing games with some of the best amateur and semi pro teams, and winning a majority. The showing was so excellent that the team will make another baseball pilgrimage next spring.

Hawaii didn't fare so well on the water as in it. The Alameda Rowing Club sent a crew down here to compete in the annual regatta, which the Coast crew won after a heart-breaking race with the Healians. This race attracted much attention on the Coast, and in all probability will lead to regular annual meetings between oarsmen of California and Hawaii.

The biennial trans-Pacific yacht race fell in 1912, and in this deep sea yachting classic, Hawaii had to be contented with second place. The Lurline, of the San Diego Yacht Club, took the race, but the Hawaii, Captain Strout, was a good second.

This has been a banner year for polo, and the fine showing made in the inter-island championship tournament, which was won by the Oahu team, has led to arrangements for sending an All-Hawaii team to the Coast this coming month, to take part in the big events at Coronado.

Some of the best tennis players in the world were seen in action in Honolulu early in the year, when the American challengers for the Davis cup returned from their unsuccessful Australian tour. Maurice McLaughlin and Beals Wright played several matches against local players. Of the Honolulu players who appeared on mainland courts, J. Atherton Richards, the present Hawaiian champion, and Alan Lowrey, made excellent showings.

In eastern college football, a Honolulu and former Punahou player, Rex Hitchcock, made the Harvard varsity, and played in all the good games.

Honolulu was represented in professional baseball by Johnnie Williams, who made good with Sacramento, of the Coast League, as a pitcher.

Purely local performances are too numerous to mention. All in all it has been a great year for clean sport in Hawaii, both amateur and professional. Splendid performances have gone down on the records, but best of all the year has been free from scandal, and no single branch of sport has fallen into disrepute through abuses.

HERE'S HAPPY NEW YEAR FROM THE STAR-BULLETIN TO EVERY TRUE SPORTSMAN IN HONOLULU.

The 105th company had an easy victory over the 159, in the regular quarterly field day held at Fort Ruger yesterday. The final score was 90 points to 10 for the eleven truck and military events on the program.

RACES TOMORROW AT KAPIOLANI SPEEDWAY

Kamainas, who attend the race at Kapiolani Park tomorrow will be taken back a decade and more, to the days when the game was good on Oahu, when good horses and good sportsmen were many, and when the "sport of kings" had more followers than any other amusement known to Hawaii.

A full day of sport is promised for tomorrow, and it should be good sport, at that. Twelve races, including running, trotting and auto events, are on the card, and the committee which has been working hard for the success of the meet has everything well in hand, so that there should be no hitches or accidents to mar the program.

The doings will begin at 10 o'clock sharp, and until late in the afternoon the track will be occupied. The auto features, a 5-mile and a 15-mile race, are down for settlement last, and as they promise all sorts of excitement it is probable that everyone will hang on until the bitter end. Besides class running races, and good harness events, there are several cowboy races on the program, which should prove interesting and amusing.

In Honolulu people wish to encourage good racing and clean sport, now is the time for them to do so, for on the success of the present meeting depends the meeting talked of for next February, at the time of the horse parade. If the people can only pay their little quarter, half of dollar for paddock or grandstand privileges, and give their moral as well as financial support to the races tomorrow, then an even better card can be given them at the next meeting.

BASKETBALL AT 'Y' NEW YEAR'S NIGHT

Tomorrow night the Young Men's Christian Association will be the scene on another glorious celebration when the building will once more be thrown open to the members and ladies for an evening of social entertainment. The principle event of the evening will be a rousing basketball game between the All-Stars and the Myrtles. This contest will take place in the big games hall, and comfortable seats will be arranged for the large crowd which is expected. These two teams are perhaps the best seen in Honolulu for a long time and their last contest caused a good deal of talk among the fans. Following the game Domingo's Mandolin orchestra will furnish music in the lobby and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. There will be no admission and the rule of issuing tickets will not prevail for this entertainment. Everyone is invited to attend, the ladies as well as the gentlemen.

SAWED OFF SHORT

A golf competition will be held over the Country Club course tomorrow. Play will be 18 holes, medal, and those entering may play the rounds at any time during the day, and may choose their own partners. The usual club handicaps will prevail.

On Saturday, January 4, there will be a mixed foursome golf tournament at the Country Club. Members who desire to enter are requested to turn in their names to Alex Bell, the club professional, as soon as possible.

The soccer game between the Healians and Marines, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, has been postponed, on account of the counter sporting attractions at Kapiolani Park. The teams will play Saturday instead, as a curtain raiser to the Scheffeld Barracks-Original Town Team football game.

NEW YEAR'S EVE HOTEL OPENING

There will be great doings at Waikiki this evening, when the enlarged and improved Waikiki Inn, J. T. Scully proprietor, holds its official and grand opening.

The entertainment to see the old year out and the new year come in, will be unique. There will be a large number of good people there. At 9:30 o'clock this evening the festivities will commence. A splendid table will be spread and there will be the best of music, fireworks, vaudeville features, and afterwards a dance. The cost of a plate at the table is $2.50. New Year's Day, also, there will be
